CultureAmerica

University Press of Kansas

SPECIAL DISCOUNT OFFER
Visit Our New Website: www.kansaspress.ku.edu

Special offer: 30% discount on all orders placed through our new website’s secure shopping cart.*

Browse our website for a complete selection of all our American Studies and Popular Culture titles and more.

*Use catalog code CA2015 to receive discount on orders placed online, by telephone, email, and mail. (See order form on page 19.)

CultureAmerica is an interdisciplinary series devoted to the exploration of modern American culture. Through the lens of cultural analysis, the series moves beyond theory-driven studies, providing a fresh and reader-friendly new look at the genesis, meaning, appeal, reception, and style of cultural forms, including popular art, music, film, television, magazines, architecture, crafts, foodways, fashion, and much more.

Erika Doss is Professor of American Studies at the University of Notre Dame. Her books include Memorial Mania: Public Feeling in America and Elvis Culture: Fans, Faith, and Image (see page 10).

Philip J. Deloria is Carroll Smith-Rosenberg Collegiate Professor in the Departments of History and American Culture at the University of Michigan. He is the author of Playing Indian and Indians in Unexpected Places (see page 12).

Please address manuscript inquiries to:
Michael Briggs, Editor-in-Chief
Phone 785-864-9162
E-mail: mbriggs@ku.edu

Erika Doss
University of Notre Dame

Philip J. Deloria
University of Michigan
Pesticides, A Love Story
America’s Enduring Embrace of Dangerous Chemicals
Michelle Mart

“Pesticides, a Love Story offers a rich narrative describing how chemical pesticides became so ubiquitous in American culture and the global environment. Astute and dogged research make for a conceptually strong synthesis, which reveals the roots of the American love affair with chemical pesticides, while chronicling how this affection grew over time.”—David Kinkela, author of DDT and the American Century: Global Health, Environmental Politics, and the Pesticide That Changed the World

336 pages
(2128) $34.95 cloth
Also available from your ebook retailer.

American Organic
A Cultural History of Farming, Gardening, Shopping, and Eating
Robin O’Sullivan

“The author paints a colorful picture of where organics has come from and where it is going. Readers will enjoy this comprehensive book on organic food that explains how it has gone from being ridiculed to wildly popular and grown into a multi-billion-dollar industry.”—Leslie A. Duram, author of Good Growing: Why Organic Farming Works

“O’Sullivan dissects the power of government, agribusiness, chemical manufacturers, homesteaders, and foodies themselves to reveal how the organics movement has been swayed by market pressures and demands.”—Margaret Gray, author of Labor and the Locavore: The Making of a Comprehensive Food Ethic

368 pages, 32 photographs
(2133) $34.95 cloth
Also available from your ebook retailer.

Friended at the Front
Social Media in the American War Zone
Lisa Ellen Silvestri

“An accessible, original, and important analysis of how social media help members of the military express themselves and stay connected to friends, family, and each other during difficult and self-defining times. Silvestri’s approach is current and fresh and her interpretations sharp and thought-provoking. . . . A truly unique and valuable book.”—Zizi Papacharissi, author of A Private Sphere: Democracy in a Digital Age and editor of A Networked Self: Identity, Community, and Culture on Social Network Sites

256 pages, 47 photographs
(2136) $29.95 cloth
Also available from your ebook retailer.
Carbon Nation
Fossil Fuels in the Making of American Culture
Amy M. Ware

“Amy Ware’s exciting new treatment of Will Rogers puts the ‘Cherokee’ back into the ‘Cherokee Kid,’ demonstrating the ways that Roger’s deep influence on American culture emerged from a tribal context that carried across his entire career. A stunning contribution to the rich body of new work examining American Indian engagements with modernity, internationalism, and celebrity.” —Philip J. Deloria, author of Indians in Unexpected Places

328 pages, 27 photographs
(2100) $37.50 cloth

West of Harlem
African American Writers and the Borderlands
Emily Lutenski

“Lutenski explores an American West which is more racially complex and culturally vibrant than previous scholarship has led us to believe. Her book is an important contribution to western American literature and African American studies.” —Blake Allmendinger, author of Imagining the African American West

“From Anita Scott Coleman’s New Mexican homesteads to Arna Bontemps’s imagined Los Angeles to Langston Hughes’s Mexican wanderings, Lutenski shows us how we must go West to go to Harlem. Accessible to a wide range of readers and creative in its framing and approach to sources, it’s a terrific book.” —Flannery Burke, author of From Greenwich Village to Taos: Primitivism and Place at Mabel Dodge Luhan’s

344 pages, 28 photographs
(2086) $37.50 cloth

The Cherokee Kid
Will Rogers, Tribal Identity, and the Making of an American Icon
Amy M. Ware

“Amy Ware’s exciting new treatment of Will Rogers puts the ‘Cherokee’ back into the ‘Cherokee Kid,’ demonstrating the ways that Roger’s deep influence on American culture emerged from a tribal context that carried across his entire career. A stunning contribution to the rich body of new work examining American Indian engagements with modernity, internationalism, and celebrity.” —Philip J. Deloria, author of Indians in Unexpected Places

328 pages, 27 photographs
(2100) $37.50 cloth

Also available from your ebook retailer.
The Iconography of Malcolm X
Graeme Abernethy

“An impressive and imaginative contribution to the literature about the changing images of Malcolm X’s life and career in the black liberation struggle.” —Clarence E. Walker, author of We Can’t Go Home Again: An Argument about Afrocentrism

“Abernethy’s use of iconography aesthetics effectively locates Malcolm X in place, space, and time. It is a significant contribution to our understanding of a key figure in African American history.” —James L. Conyers, Jr., coeditor of Malcolm X: A Historical Reader

304 pages, 27 photographs
(1920) $34.95 cloth

West Side Story as Cinema
The Making and Impact of an American Masterpiece
Ernesto R. Acevedo-Muñoz

“This is the definitive and most comprehensive book about the film West Side Story. It is filled with fascinating information and thought-provoking commentary, including an Hispanic sensibility that looks at the movie with a fresh point of view. An outstanding work of movie scholarship.” —Thomas Hischak, author of The Oxford Companion to the American Musical

216 pages, 31 photographs, 7 in color
(1921) $34.95 cloth

Fat Blame
How the War on Obesity Victimizes Women and Children
April Michelle Herndon

A critical look at the language of crisis and epidemic which dominates public and private discussion and how it positions the bodies of women and children as in need of surveillance and correction through the increasingly aggressive interventions of public officials. Fat Blame aims to move the discussion forward by examining who is blamed for the obesity epidemic and the problematic nature of intervention outcomes by looking closely at the stories of real people.

“Herndon’s focus is excellent…on the war on obesity as a war on women and children.” —Amy Farrell, author of Fat Shame: Stigma and the Fat Body in America

232 pages, 6 photographs
(1965) $29.95 cloth
Also available from your ebook retailer.
Going to the Dogs
Greyhound Racing, Animal Activism, and American Popular Culture
Gwyneth Anne Thayer

The first cultural history of greyhound racing in America, this book charts the sport’s meteoric rise—and equally meteoric decline—against the backdrop of changes in American culture during the last century. Thayer takes us from its origins in “coursing” in England, through its postwar heyday, and up to its current state of near-extinction. Her entertaining account offers fresh insight into the development of American sport and leisure, the rise of animal advocacy, and the unique place that dogs hold in American life.

304 pages, 36 photographs
(1913) $34.95 cloth

Getting Physical
The Rise of Fitness Culture in America
Shelly McKenzie

“An interesting and ambitious book—based on diverse evidence and clear analysis—that effectively explains the origins of and reasons for many aspects of Americans’ continuing focus on physical fitness.”—Peter Stearns, author of Fat History: Bodies and Beauty in the Modern West

“Fitness may be a contemporary commonplace but it is one with a complex and intriguing history. Clearly written and engaging, McKenzie’s account should be required reading for all the public health specialists wondering about the origins of our obesity epidemic.”—Sander L. Gilman, author of Obesity: The Biography

304 pages, 21 photographs
(1906) $34.95 cloth

Bright Light City
Las Vegas in Popular Culture
Larry Gragg

“This book brims with insights into the enduring appeal of an ever-changing Las Vegas. Perhaps even more impressive than the breadth of his research is Gragg’s flair for grounding popular imagery in the historical and cultural context necessary to fully comprehend its origin and impact.”—Alicia Barber, author of Reno’s Big Gamble: Image and Reputation in the Biggest Little City

“Everything you ever wanted to know about Las Vegas. A meticulously researched tribute to America’s most Idiosyncratic city.”—Vincent Brook, author of Land of Smoke and Mirrors: A Cultural History of Los Angeles

368 pages, 37 photographs, 16 in color
(1903) $34.95 cloth
NEW IN PAPERBACK
Winner of the North American Society for Sport History Book Award
Winner of the Illinois State Historical Society Award of Superior Achievement

The Rise of Gridiron University
Higher Education’s Uneasy Alliance with Big-Time Football
Brian M. Ingrassia
“No other book succeeds so well in revealing how football and other sports gained a special place within institutions of American higher education.” —Benjamin G. Rader, author of American Sports: From the History of Folk Games to the Age of Televised Sports
336 pages, 28 photographs
(1830) $34.95 cloth
(2139) $24.95 paper
Also available from your ebook retailer.

Winner of the Emily Toth Award

Beyond Rosie the Riveter
Women of World War II in American Popular Graphic Art
Donna B. Knaff
“A vibrant and compelling narrative. Offering a deeply nuanced reading of familiar icons like Rosie the Riveter and Wonder Woman, along with other less-known images such as Winnie the Wac and Miss Lace, Knaff persuasively demonstrates that competing versions of female masculinity were the critical means through which wartime anxieties about women’s participation in the military and war work were negotiated.” —Leisa D. Meyer, author of Creating G.I. Jane: Sexuality and Power in the Women’s Army Corps during World War II
224 pages, 30 photographs
(1850) $34.95 cloth
(1966) $22.50 paper

Terrorism TV
Popular Entertainment in Post-9/11 America
Stacy Takacs
“An indispensable study showing how popular culture mediated a profound national trauma.” —Aniko Bodroghkozy, author of Groove Tube: Sixties Television and the Youth Rebellion
“Takacs’s probing and perceptive analyses of news and entertainment programming shows how these categories melded together in ways that helped make television a strategic theater in the Bush administration’s war on terrorism.” —Stephen Prince, author of Firestorm: American Film in the Age of Terrorism
344 pages, 29 photographs
(1837) $39.95 cloth
(1838) $24.95 paper
Gospel According to the Klan
The KKK’s Appeal to Protestant America, 1915–1930
Kelly J. Baker

“An original and sobering work. In the present age, when we may no longer pretend that the lines between violent fanaticism and religious fervor are clearly discernible, this book makes a timely and urgent intervention. Hatred may have more to do with religion than we care to acknowledge.” —David Morgan, author of Protestants and Pictures: Religion, Visual Culture, and the Age of American Mass Production

342 pages, 27 photographs
(1792) $34.95 cloth

NEW IN PAPERBACK

1927 and the Rise of Modern America
Charles J. Shindo

“An engaging and very readable introduction to a year (and a decade) fast fading from historical memory—but one that, even apart from Lindbergh’s flight, was remarkable for its diversity of culturally resonant works and events. Richly detailed, Shindo’s study is an enjoyable and provocative read.” —Paul S. Boyer, Editor in Chief, The Oxford Companion to United States History

“The author places this one year in the context of a wide variety of political, social, economic, and cultural developments to paint a convincing picture of a people searching for clarity and meaning, and not just having a good time.” —Choice

256 pages, 11 photographs
(1715) $34.95 cloth
(2113) $22.95 paper

Also available from your ebook retailer.

The Look of Catholics
Portrayals in Popular Culture from the Great Depression to the Cold War
Anthony Burke Smith

“Smith’s ambitious and exemplary work demonstrates decisively for all time that Catholics were not only integral players in the formation of modern American popular culture, but that the role of Catholicism itself in the national popular culture was a major issue in the production of that same culture. . . . A wonderfully exciting book that will be widely hailed as a landmark achievement, confirm the author’s stature as the leading scholar of Catholic popular culture, and be consulted by scholars and their students for decades to come.” —James T. Fisher, author of Communion of Immigrants: A History of Catholics in America

296 pages, 14 photographs
(1716) $39.95 cloth
Those Girls
Single Women in Sixties and Seventies Popular Culture
Katherine J. Lehman

“Ranging across diverse media, genres, and audiences, Lehman artfully maps the motivations, meanings, and contradictions that both liberated and limited the ‘single girl’ in the American imagination.”
—Bonnie J. Dow, author of Prime-Time Feminists: Television, Media Culture, and the Women’s Movement Since 1970

“Carefully researched, beautifully written, this is a must-read book for anyone who wants to understand the cultural and social roots of the modern women’s movement.”
—Ruth Rosen, author of The World Split Open: How the Modern Women’s Movement Changed America

320 pages, 30 photographs
(1808) $29.95 cloth

---

Wanted Women
An American Obsession in the Reign of J. Edgar Hoover
Mary Elizabeth Strunk

“Strunk’s important study shows—in a vivid and exciting narrative—how our fascination with female criminals, gun molls, radicals, and serial killers draws on our unconscious sexual obsessions, has paid off for Hollywood and Washington, and played into J. Edgar Hoover’s own obsessions, for the greater power and glory of the FBI.”
—Richard Gid Powers, author of Secrecy and Power: The Life of J. Edgar Hoover

“A rich and entertaining book.”
—William Graebner, author of Patty’s Got a Gun: Patricia Hearst in 1970s America

270 pages, 27 illustrations
(1744) $34.95 cloth

---

Debutante
Rites and Regalia of American Debdom
Karal Ann Marling

“Teas, dances, gowns, balls, cotillions—it all sounds so slight and passe. But, as Karal Ann Marling shows with such charm and skill in Debutante, such things have always mattered in an America that has never been quite as classless as it has pretended to be.”
—Frank Deford, NPR commentator and author of There She Is: The Life and Times of Miss America

“This is a delightful and significant book.”
—Michael Kammen, author of American Culture, American Tastes: Social Change and the Twentieth Century

230 pages, 61 photographs
(1317) $29.95 cloth
Cuttin’ Up
How Early Jazz Got America’s Ear
Court Carney
“Carney’s writing is rich with musical detail and historical explanation. He maintains the easy narrative style of a storyteller entertaining an eager audience. Highly recommended. All readers.”—Choice
“Shows us how the rise of ragtime interlinked with the mass production of pianos, how the development of radio challenged segregated neighborhoods and musicians’ unions, and, above all, how sheer musical power overcame racist resistance and jazz become America’s music.”—Barry Shank, author of Dissontent Identities
232 pages, 2 photographs
(1675) $34.95 cloth
(1889) $19.95 paper
Winner of the Northeast Black Studies Alliance W. E. B. Du Bois Book Prize
Hip-Hop Revolution
The Culture and Politics of Rap
Jeffrey O. G. Ogbar
“Easily one of the most substantial and thoughtful works on the cultural politics of hip-hop. Ogbar successfully balances an insider’s love of the culture with a scholar’s critical eye.”—William Jelani Cobb, author of To the Break of Dawn: A Freestyle on the Hip-Hop Aesthetic
“A wide-ranging and knowledgeable addition to the expanding field of hip-hop studies. This book is full of engaging readings, informed contextualization, and fresh ideas.”—Journal of American History
248 pages, 20 photographs
(1547) $35.00 cloth
(1651) $17.95 paper
Elvis Culture
Fans, Faith, and Image
Erika Doss
“An exuberantly detailed and illustrated study that succeeds in demonstrating the complexity of Elvis culture and absolutely compels us to take the fundamental question about popular culture (‘Why Elvis?’) to heart.”—American Studies
“An intelligent cultural analysis of one of the country’s most revered, reviled, and reviewed fan phenomena.”—Publishers Weekly
“The book itself is a remarkable Presley artifact.”—New York Times Book Review
304 pages, 67 photographs
(0948) $29.95 cloth
(1337) $16.95 paper
Counterculture Green
The Whole Earth Catalog and American Environmentalism
Andrew G. Kirk

“Kirk traces an unfamiliar genealogy of contemporary American environmentalism through the influence of the Whole Earth Catalog and its iconoclastic publisher, Stuart Brand. . . . His hopeful and carefully researched book brings a sense of order and context to a notoriously decentralized and nebulous movement and deepens our understanding of postwar environmentalism.”—Pacific Historical Review

“Kirk fully succeeds in creating a whole catalog of the Whole Earth phenomenon. It is a measure of his success that we yearn to know more.”—New York Times Book Review

320 pages, 40 illustrations
(1545) $34.95 cloth
(1821) $19.95 paper

Daughters of Aquarius
Women of the Sixties Counterculture
Gretchen Lemke-Santangelo

“Offers a strong corrective to misguided conventional wisdom about hippie culture. Its greatest achievement lies in capturing the voices of the women themselves. . . . Panoramic in scope, novel in substance, and full of heart.”—Women's Review of Books

“Lemke-Santangelo takes a necessary step in interpreting the historical and cultural importance of hippie women. Her book is realistic, sophisticated, and long overdue.”—Roberta Price, author of Huerfano: A Memoir of Life in the Counterculture

248 pages, 22 illustrations, 8 in color
(1633) $29.95 cloth

America in the Seventies
Edited by Beth Bailey and David Farber

“Bailey and Farber, both brilliant and original historians, have taken a fresh and revealing look at a neglected and misunderstood decade. The remarkable essays they have assembled show that the 1970s were in some ways even more important than the preceding ‘age of great dreams.’”—Chester Pach, author of Arming the Free World

Contributors: Beth Bailey, Peter Braunstein, Christopher Capozzola, Jefferson Cowie, David Farber, William Braebner, Timothy Moy, Eric Porter, Michael Willard

252 pages
(1327) $18.95 paper
Voted one of the Ten Best Books in Native American and Indigenous Studies by NAISA
Winner of the Western History Association John C. Ewers Award

Indians in Unexpected Places

Philip J. Deloria

“Deloria demonstrates why the unexpectedness of Indians appearing in automobiles, as sports heroes, or in the movies playing themselves was frequently startling to a public that expected the Indians either to disappear or to remain frozen in an earlier time.”

—Journal of American History

“Enlightening, entertaining, poignant, engagingly written. . . . A powerful book that harnesses the energy inherent in all moving stories.”—Western Historical Quarterly

312 pages, 51 photographs
(1459) $18.95 paper

Winner of the New Mexico Book Award
Winner of the New Mexico Historical Society Ralph Emerson Twitchell Award

Indian-Made

Navajo Culture in the Marketplace, 1868–1940

Erika Marie Bsumek

“A triumph! Bsumek brilliantly exposes the mercenary practices and advertising strategies of traders and assembly-line producers, the deep-seated romantic yearnings of adorers and purchasers of Navajo arts and crafts, the attempts to standardize and control shifting definitions of the ‘authentic,’ and the struggles of Navajo artisans themselves.”—Peter Nabokov, author of A Forest of Time: American Indian Ways of History

304 pages, 29 photographs
(1595) $34.95 cloth
(1890) $19.95 paper

Winner of the New Mexico Historical Society Ralph Emerson Twitchell Award

From Greenwich Village to Taos

Primitivism and Place at Mabel Dodge Luhan’s

Flannery Burke

“Burke’s fresh and exciting analysis of the divisions within the Santa Fe and Taos arts communities and the ways in which Pueblo Indians positioned themselves to speak on their own behalf is just terrific—very nuanced and very compelling.”

—Lois Rudnick, author of Mabel Dodge Luhan: New Woman, New Worlds

260 pages, 23 photographs, 8 in color
(1579) $39.95 cloth
Winner of the Dallas Museum of Art Vasari Award

Picturing the New Negro
Harlem Renaissance Print Culture and Modern Black Identity
Caroline Goeser

“Goeser makes a persuasive case for illustration as the primary form of New Negro visual expression. Her careful analysis is supported by a wide range of texts, including an extraordinary pool of images brought together here for the first time . . . An extremely important and original contribution to the understanding of visual culture in the Harlem Renaissance.”—Mary Ann Calo, author of Bernard Berenson and the Twentieth Century

376 pages, 90 illustrations
(1466) $40.00 cloth

Television in Black-and-White America
Race and National Identity
Alan Nadel

“A brilliant piece of cultural criticism, Nadel’s important new work provides a revealing look at the emergence of television and how it shaped the national consciousness, particularly with regard to race. It should appeal especially to cultural historians and scholars in media studies.”—Ellen Schrecker, author of Many Are the Crimes: McCarthyism in America

“An original and compelling argument. . . . Strongly recommended.”—Donald E. Pease, Jr., author of National Identities and Post-Americanist Narratives

236 pages, 26 photographs
(1398) $34.95 cloth

Black Manhood on the Silent Screen
Gerald R. Butters, Jr.

“A defining work that fills in significant gaps in our knowledge of early African American cinema and its critical discourse.”—Ed Guerrero, author of Framing Blackness: The African American Image in Film

“Butters's analysis of a large body of important films that are rarely discussed is a significant contribution to the field of film studies.”—J. Ronald Green, author of Straight Lick: The Cinema of Oscar Micheaux

“A meticulously researched work that contributes to our understanding of a vastly underrepresented area in film studies.”—Paula J. Massood, author of Black City Cinema: African American Urban Experiences in Film

288 pages, 12 photographs
(1197) $37.50 cloth
iSpy
Surveillance and Power in the Interactive Era
Mark Andrejevic
“This book will change the way you think about today’s new media technologies. It is a vivid and compelling account of how interactivity appears to be enhancing our power yet in fact is increasing the power of others to watch over us and control us.”—Daniel J. Solove, author of The Digital Person
“This is a book that everyone should read. Many other books have examined personal privacy in the digital world but Andrejevic’s emphasis on individuals’ complicity makes this a unique, compelling read.”—Choice
336 pages
(1686) $22.50 paper

Projecting Paranoia
Conspiratorial Visions in American Film
Ray Pratt
“An unquestionably fresh addition to film and political theory . . . Deserves praise for its imaginative appraisal of Americans’ current fascination with and fears about the power of political authority. Moreover, by so comprehensively examining his topic from multiple angles, Pratt is able to successfully extricate meaning from a phenomenon as complex and contradictory as the American political psyche. The cultural-studies approach frequently gets a bad rap, but here Pratt has demonstrated its potential for illuminating the interdependency of art and life—or, in this case, art and lies.”—Cineaste
334 pages, 21 photographs
(1148) $50.00 cloth
(1150) $19.95 paper

Michael Moore’s Fahrenheit 9/11
How One Film Divided a Nation
Robert Brent Toplin
“This is a fascinating and thoughtful look at the complicated force of nature that is Michael Moore and the very serious issues of politics, partisanship, craft, and aesthetics that get stirred up in the wake of his films.”—Ken Burns, filmmaker
“Offers insights into the ways that public debate about Moore’s film—by far the biggest box office success of any documentary ever made—overshadowed the film itself.”—Michael Renov, author of The Subject of Documentary
168 pages, 15 photographs
(1452) $29.95 cloth
Reinventing Richard Nixon
A Cultural History of an American Obsession
Daniel Frick

“Senator Bob Dole argued that the last half of the twentieth century was ‘the age of Nixon’ and Frick shows us why. The Nixon limned here is a mutable public figure constantly reinterpreted by his enemies and his admirers. They all find him an irresistible figure for thinking about who we are, who we want to be, and what we’re willing to do to get there. It is a brilliant and scary read.”—David Farber, author of The Age of Great Dreams: America in the 1960s

“Strongly recommended.”—Library Journal
344 pages, 45 illustrations
(1599) $39.95 cloth

Presidential Temples
How Memorials and Libraries Shape Public Memory
Benjamin Hufbauer

“Part popular culture study, part anthropological investigation, and part architectural analysis, this study adds a new dimension to our understanding of America’s fascination with the presidency.”
—Peter C. Rollins, editor of Hollywood’s White House and The West Wing

“I enthusiastically recommend this imaginative, thoroughly researched, well-written, and fascinating study. It is a welcome addition to the diverse and ever-expanding field investigating the cultural functions of the national commemorative landscape.”
—Edward T. Linenthal, author of Preserving Memory
288 pages, 30 photographs
(1422) $39.95 cloth

Winner of the Organization of American Historians Avery O. Craven Award

The Legend of John Wilkes Booth
Myth, Memory, and a Mummy
C. Wyatt Evans

“In all the carnival of American culture, surely nothing was more bizarre than the odyssey of the supposed mummy of Lincoln’s assassin. Booth is in our memories, and Evans ably demonstrates why we refuse to put him out.”—William C. Davis, author of The Cause Lost

“No reader of this fascinating and fast-paced narrative will be less than mesmerized.”—Bertram Wyatt-Brown, author of The Shaping of Southern Culture
224 pages, 15 photographs
(1352) $24.95 cloth
Winner of the American Meteorological Society Louis J. Battan Award

Weather Matters
An American Cultural History since 1900
Bernard Mergen

“From weather humor to the politics of weather disaster with Katrina, from weather lore to weather prediction, from weather watchers to weather consumers, this book offers a truly comprehensive and invaluable history of weather's enormous social and cultural impact.”—Marita Sturken, author of Desiring the Weather and Tourists of History

“A fascinating study of a timeless human obsession. Recommended for all public and academic collections.”—Library Journal

408 pages, 22 illustrations
(1611) $34.95 cloth

Ski Style
Sport and Culture in the Rockies
Annie Gilbert Coleman

“A good read. The story of skiing operates as a perfect example of something we perceive as frivolous turning out to be deeply emblematic of modern American culture.”—Western Historical Quarterly

“Rich in detail, important and instructive.”—American Historical Review

“A perceptive examination of skiing’s influence on American culture and of culture on the sport.”—John Fry, President, International Skiing History Association

320 pages, 41 illustrations
(1341) $29.95 cloth

Steeltown, U.S.A.
Work and Memory in Youngstown
Sherry Lee Linkon and John Russo

“This richly textured portrait probes the injured soul of a declining city and exposes the contradictions embedded in working-class life. The authors correctly note that Youngstown’s story is America’s story.”—American Quarterly

“Beautifully written with a plainspoken lyricism reminiscent of William Carlos Williams, Steeltown U.S.A. sensitively probes conflicting representations of Youngstown across a century of growth, struggle, and heartbreaking decline. . . A cold-eyed, warm-hearted elegy for industrial America that somehow renews our rusty spirits.”—Jack Metzgar, author of Striking Steel: Solidarity Remembered

296 pages, 37 photographs, 1 map
(1292) $18.95 paper
Are We There Yet?
The Golden Age of American Family Vacations
Susan Sessions Rugh
“Rugh treats this period of post-World War II innocence—or Cold War escapism—with a healthy revisionism minus any smudge of sepia sentimentality. Smart and sensitive, well researched and no-nonsense, her ride is well worth taking.”—The Atlantic
“A fascinating exploration of excursions from 1945 to the 1970s.”—Washington Post “Rugh does an excellent job of contextualizing family vacations by explaining the factors that made them possible in a way that is both intuitive and intellectually satisfying. . . . Innovative and insightful.”—Journal of American History
252 pages, 35 photographs
(1588) $34.95 cloth
(1759) $18.95 paper

Hell on Wheels
The Promise and Peril of America’s Car Culture, 1900–1940
David Blanke
“An innovative and compelling analysis of American efforts to reduce automobile accidents in the first four decades of the twentieth century. Blanke finally explains the paradox between American drivers’ concerns about the lack of safety on the highways and their failure to drive more responsibly. . . . A sophisticated and significant contribution to the literature.”—Joel W. Eastman, author of Styling vs. Safety: The American Automobile Industry and the Development of Automobile Safety, 1900–1966
“An excellent piece of work that fills a huge historiographical gap and is a pleasure to read.”—Clay McShane, author of Down the Asphalt Path: American Cities and the Automobile
276 pages, 34 photographs
(1515) $34.95 cloth

Once Upon an American Dream
The Story of Euro Disneyland
Andrew Lainsbury
“A welcome corrective to the conventional wisdom about Euro Disneyland’s development.”—American Studies
“Of interest to all those who try to bring subtlety and nuance to debates about Americanization.”—Journal of American History
304 pages
(0989) $39.95 cloth
It’s Our Day

America’s Love Affair with the White Wedding, 1945–2005
Katherine Jellison

“Jellison’s fascinating and well-written account of Americans’ love affair with the lavish white wedding reveals how popular culture has both mirrored and encouraged the hopes and desires of those about to marry.”—James B. Twitchell, author of Shopping for God

“A compelling economic and social history. With chapters on celebrity nuptials, silver-screen I-dos, and the latest batch of reality TV brides, Jellison demonstrates how advertisers, media, and brides themselves slowly reshaped the white wedding into an act of organized feminism.”—Publishers Weekly

310 pages, 50 photographs
(1559) $34.95 cloth

---

American Angels

Useful Spirits in the Material World
Peter Gardella

“Angels are all over the place: at the mall, in Hollywood, in comics, on Broadway, and collected up in this masterful book. If you’re interested in what happens when religion goes pop, here’s the book for you.”—James B. Twitchell, author of Shopping for God

“One of the year’s most provocative and original books on spirituality. It surveys the immense range of angelic and pseudoangelic images and places them in a thoughtful historical and national context. Gardella suggests that angels are perhaps the most potent metaphor for American culture.”—Library Journal

296 pages, 18 photographs
(1537) $34.95 cloth

---

Reel History

In Defense of Hollywood
Robert Brent Toplin

“Without question most Americans today learn—or mislearn—history by watching movies. Toplin brilliantly grapples with the advantages and dilemmas brought about by this stark fact in a well-written, sober-minded analysis of the enduring power of cinematic history.”—Douglas Brinkley, author of American Heritage History of the United States

“Toplin’s good common sense promotes a salutary (and long overdue) demystification of Hollywood-made history.”—Mark C. Carnes, editor of Past Imperfect: History According to the Movies

240 pages, 30 photographs
(1200) $18.95 paper
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Qty</th>
<th>(4-digit code)</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Price</th>
<th>Total</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

30% Discount Offer
Please give catalog code CA2015 to get 30% discount

Shipping
$5.00 for first book, $1.00 for each additional book
For orders outside the U.S. add $8.50 for the first book and $2.50 for each additional book.

Examination Copy Policy
To examine one of our books for course adoption, please submit your request with the name of your school and your department and tell us the name of the course, anticipated enrollment, and semester when it will be taught. Please also include your office telephone number and email address.

Exam copies of all paperback books are available to instructors for a prepaid fee of $6.00 each. Include your payment information (check or credit card) with your request. Please limit requests to three paperback titles per semester. For exam copies of clothbound books, contact the Marketing Department.

Exam copy requests can be emailed to upress@ku.edu, faxed to 785-864-4586, or mailed to the Press. We cannot process exam copy requests via telephone.

---

University Press of Kansas
2502 Westbrooke Circle
Lawrence KS 66045-4444

---

Name
Street Address
City
State Zip

☐ Check or money order enclosed ☐ MasterCard ☐ American Express
☐ VISA ☐ Discover

Card # ____________________________ Expiration date ____________________________ Daytime telephone ____________________________

Signature ________________________ Email ____________________________